

National Foundation for Giving Voice:
events for challenging times

Building the world we want

Using song to help us play our part

Help!!

What can I do?

How can I do it?

3 separate Sunday sessions

13th May, 23rd September, 4th November 2018

3:45pm for 4:00pm to 6:30 pm

in Fulwood Sheffield

with Caroline Thorpe – accredited Giving Voice
teacher

How can we avoid getting caught up in mental anguish and emotional turmoil and instead access a deeper place of integrity and productive response?

You don't need to believe you can sing

You'll be given some tools to work with

You'll learn about using them in real-world situations.

You'll have the opportunity for follow-up (on a donations basis)

Cost £10 (£8 NFGV members) each session Bursaries available.

Giving Voice is an approach developed by author and health educator Jill Rakusen. It uses sound and song to enable people to thrive in harmony with others. It's a transformational tool that can enhance all aspects of our daily lives, our relationships and our health, as well as our singing ability or perceived lack of it. It can be used at any time in any situation. You can even do it silently. Caroline is trained and supervised by Jill and uses Giving Voice to promote harmony, peace and joy in her life and in the world.

Booking information

Please phone or email us in advance if you want to find out more before booking.

Bursaries: we won't turn anyone away for financial reasons. Just ask for a bursary form.

Please send booking and payment at least a week before the events (by 5th May, 15th Sept or 27 Oct)

After I've received your booking, I'll phone you (if we haven't already spoken to you about the event). This is to ensure the smooth running of the group.
